ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The production of this report would not have been possible without the concerted effort of the police departments and sheriffs' offices throughout Wyoming who report accurately and regularly to the State Uniform Crime Reporting Program. The significance of their contribution is demonstrated in this report, which presents detailed information on the extent and fluctuation of crime in Wyoming.

INTRODUCTION

This annual report of Crime in Wyoming, 1987, presents data on reported crime from January through December, 1987, as well as crime trends experienced in Wyoming during the past five years (1983-1987).

The data presented in this report were compiled from Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) records submitted by Wyoming law enforcement agencies. These records are designed to collect pertinent standardized law enforcement data at the city, county and state levels, and were prepared in compliance with the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) Uniform Crime Reporting Program standards and definitions.

Local law enforcement agencies prepare UCR forms containing offense, clearance, arrest and supplemental information, and submit the reports on a monthly basis to the State UCR Program, Criminal Justice Information Section, Division of Criminal Investigation, Office of the Attorney General.[1] UCR personnel verifies the reports, automates the data for later analysis at the State level and forwards the reports to the FBI for use in compilation and analysis of national crime statistics.

It is important to recognize constraints in interpreting and drawing conclusions from the data contained herein.

[1] See W.S. 1977 7-1-122 for legislation mandating the reporting of crime information to the Attorney General's Office.

Although Wyoming has yet to achieve 100 percent reporting of crime data by law enforcement agencies, 71 individual agencies currently report UCR data. These agencies serve jurisdictions representing 98.8 percent of the State population,[2] of which twenty-three are sheriffs' offices and fourty-eight are police departments.

Another limitation in crime reporting practices concerns the question of how much crime is actually being reported. Law enforcement agencies are capable only of reporting crimes known to them. A considerable volume of crime is never reported to law enforcement agencies because the victims may consider the offenses against them to be of little consequence, they may believe there is nothing the police can do about them, or they may fear retaliation from the offender. Consequently, information concerning some offenses is never entered into the present statistical reporting system.

The UCR Program collects data on a variety of crimes, which it categorizes as Part I crimes and Part II crimes.[3] The Part I crimes include the "Crime Index" offenses of murder, forcible rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny-theft, and motor vehicle theft. Arson was added as a Part I offense in 1979. (Throughout this report where arson is included with the other Index offenses, it will be referred to as the "Modified Crime Index".) For the above offenses, the UCR Program collects information regarding the incidence of offenses, certain supplemental crime information, and arrest data. For Part II offenses, however, the UCR Program collects only arrest data. The UCR figures do not, therefore, necessarily measure the true incidence of crimes or the actual economic loss incurred by victims.

Crimes and arrests should not be compared on a one-to-one basis; a crime is an event while an arrest relates to an individual. The two figures may not match precisely, for example, because several crimes may be solved by the arrest of a single individual. In such a case each of the crimes will be reported, but only a single arrest will appear, though each of the crimes for which the offender has been arrested may have been cleared by the arrest. Similarly, the figures will not match where a single crime is committed by multiple offenders and each of the offenders is arrested. In this situation, a single crime is reported in UCR figures, a single clearance by an arrest appears, but several people appear in the arrest figures.

In spite of these limitations the information presented in this report portrays the most accurate and realistic assessment of crime in Wyoming. Our readers are urged to use caution when interpreting the "percent change" figures which appear throughout this report. Several of the Index offenses, murder for example, occur relatively infrequently. Given the comparatively low volume of these offenses, modest fluctuations may result in significant percent changes.

The percent change figures used in this report were calculated by comparing the number of offenses reported by each law enforcement agency throughout the state, while controlling for missing data. If any agency failed to report crime data for one or more months during 1987, the same months were excluded from the comparison with the previous year's reported data, as well as comparisons with 1983 figures. Similarly, agencies which did not participate in the UCR Program in 1983 were not included in the calculation of percent change figures. This method of calculation is used in order to avoid artificial fluctuations in reported crime based on changes in the number of contributing agencies from year to year, or their reporting frequency.

THE CRIME INDEX

The offenses which comprise the Crime Index are all serious, either by their nature or by the frequency with which they occur, and each presents a common law enforcement problem. Crimes within the Index are categorized as Violent Crimes (which include murder, forcible rape, robbery, and aggravated assault) or as Property Crimes (which include burglary, larceny-theft, and motor vehicle theft). By congressional mandate, arson was added as a reporting offense in 1979. Its data collection is separate and, except where noted, it is presented independently of other offense data in this report.

During 1987, the volume of Crime Index offenses reported to Wyoming law enforcement agencies fell 10.4 percent when compared to 1986 figures. See Table 1. During the past year a total of 19,752 offenses were reported or known to law enforcement agencies, compared to 22,052 in 1986.

Six out of seven Index offense categories experienced a decline in 1987, ranging from minus 5.9 percent for aggravated assault to minus 63.0 percent for murder. Forcible rape was the only offense which increased, up 38.7 percent, compared with 1986. Property offenses, as a group, declined 10.9 percent. Even with the increase in forcible rapes, the violent crimes, as a group, fell 4.2 percent. Arsons registered a 13.7 percent rise over 1986, with 116 reported incidents during 1987.

The Crime Index as a whole, reflected a 3.8 percent decline in comparison with the same reporting agencies in 1983.

VIOLENT CRIMES

Violent crimes involve the element of personal confrontation between the perpetrator and the victim, and entail the use or threat of force or violence. By their very nature, violent crimes are considered more serious than property crimes.

Three of the four offenses in the violent crime category declined in 1987. See Table 1. Murder noted the most substantial decline, falling 63.0 percent. Robbery was down 14.0 percent, while aggravated assault fell 5.9 percent. Forcible rape and rape attempts rose 38.7 percent in 1987. The violent offenses, as a group, accounted for 7.2 percent of the 1987 total Crime Index, compared to 6.7 percent in 1986. See Figure 1.

Although violent crimes as a group fell 4.2 percent from 1986 figures, this category reflected a 16.9 percent rise when compared to 1983 levels.

PROPERTY CRIMES

Property crimes entail property taken from one person by another. Although property crimes are less serious in nature than their violent crime counterparts of the Index, they represent, by far, the bulk of the total Crime Index (see page 12). By virtue of the large volume of property offenses, they present a serious problem to law enforcement agencies.

As a group, the number of property crimes were down 10.9 percent in 1987, compared to 1986. See Table 1. Motor vehicle theft led the decline, falling 20.6 percent. Burglaries were down 15.2 percent and larceny-theft decreased 9.2 percent in 1987. Property crimes accounted for 92.8 percent of the total Crime Index in 1987, compared to 93.3 percent in 1986.

In comparison to 1983 levels, property crimes as a group, fell 5.1 percent, while reported arsons showed an increase of 5.5 percent.

CRIME RATES

Crime rates represent the number of crimes in relation to the population of a given jurisdiction. The rates are calculated to provide agencies with a means of measuring the magnitude of the crime problem that exists in relation to the number of people who reside in their jurisdiction. Crime rates allow the comparison of the volume of crime in jurisdictions having different populations.

The population base figures (see Table 3) used in estimating the population of Wyoming for this report were compiled from two sources: U.S. Department of Commerce, Bureau of the Census, and the Department of Administration and Fiscal Control, Division of Research and Statistics, State of Wyoming.[4] In calculating the population estimates for this report we have determined the percentage difference between the 1980 Bureau of the Census enumeration and the 1980 Wyoming Division of Research and Statistics estimates. These percentage differences are then applied to the 1987 Wyoming Division of Research and Statistics estimates to calculate our population figures. This method was adopted in order to adjust the State estimates to the decennial Census enumeration.

All crime rates presented in this report are per 10,000 population, unless otherwise specified. Crime rates are calculated by dividing the number of offenses by the population and multiplying the result by 10,000. Furthermore, since by UCR definition the victims of forcible rape are always female, the rape rates are per 10,000 females.

The crime rate for the Index offenses fell 8.5 percent in 1987, down from 459.9 per 10,000 population in 1986, to 420.6 in 1987.

The crime rate for forcible rape and rape attempts was the only offense to increase over 1986. The rate of violent crimes as a group, fell slightly compared to 1986 but showed an increase of 18.4 percent from 1983 crime rate levels.

The rate of property crimes as a group, registered a 9.0 percent drop from 1986, and a 4.2 percent decrease compared to 1983 crime rate figures. See Table 2.

DISTRIBUTION OF INDEX OFFENSES

During 1987, a total of 19,752 Crime Index offenses were reported to Wyoming law enforcement agencies. By far, the bulk of all offenses reported in 1987 were property crimes. These totaled 18,331 or 92.8 percent of the total Index. Larceny-theft alone accounted for 71.6 percent of the total Index in 1987 and 77.1 percent of all property crimes. As a group, violent crimes were responsible for only 7.2 percent of the Crime Index total.

DISTRIBUTION OF INDEX OFFENSES

CLEARANCES

For Uniform Crime Reporting purposes, an Index offense is cleared when 1) a law enforcement agency has identified the offender, 2) there is sufficient evidence to charge the offender, and 3) the offender is actually taken into custody. The arrest of one person can clear several crimes or several persons may be arrested in the process of clearing one offense. Clearances are also recorded in exceptional circumstances when some element beyond the control of the law enforcement agency precludes formal charges being brought against the offender.

Of the 19,752 offenses reported to the police during 1987, 5,622 were cleared, for an overall clearance rate of 28.5 percent. Violent crimes evidenced a substantially higher clearance rate than property crimes, with 69.9 percent of the violent crimes resulting in a clearance, while 25.3 percent of the property crimes were cleared.

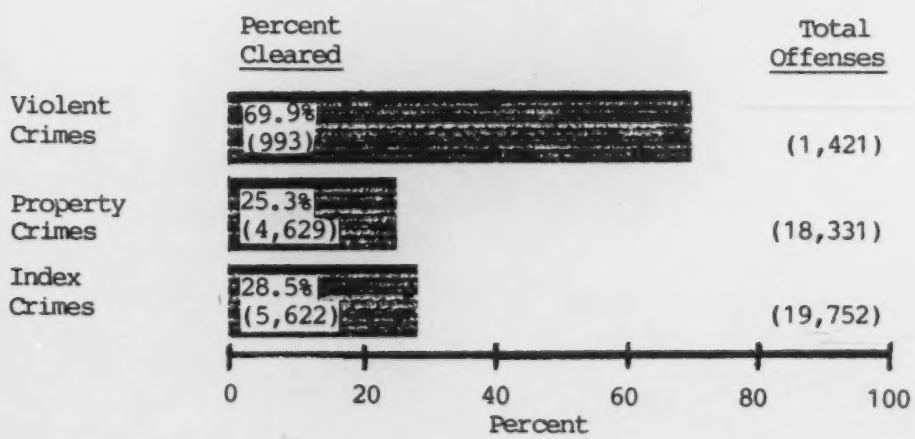
CLEARANCE RATES FOR VIOLENT, PROPERTY, AND INDEX CRIMES, 1987



The relatively high clearance rate for violent crimes compared to property crimes is due to several factors, including the volume difference between the two groups and the greater likelihood of a witness to violent crimes. During 1987, there was nearly thirteen times as many property crimes reported to law enforcement agencies as violent crimes. Also, because of their serious nature, law enforcement investigation of violent crime is usually more intensive. The element of personal confrontation between the victim and the offender may also contribute to the higher clearance rate for violent crimes.

Clearances involving only persons under eighteen years of age accounted for 27.7 percent of the total clearances reported in 1987. See Table 4. During this reporting period, 1,558 clearances involving only offenders under eighteen years of age were reported, of which 6.5 percent or 101 were for violent crimes and the remaining 93.5 percent or 1,457 were property crime clearances. The primary juvenile involvement was within the larceny-theft classification, which accounted for 75.9 percent of all juvenile clearances.

MONTHLY AND SEASONAL FLUCTUATIONS

The following Table indicates the high volume crime months occur during the summer season, with July reflecting the greatest number of reported offenses for 1987. Comparatively, the winter months have the lowest volume of crime for 1987, with the least number of reported offenses occurring in January.

MURDER AND NON-NEGLIGENT MANSLAUGHTER

Murder and non-negligent manslaughter is defined by the Uniform Crime Reporting Program as the willful (non-negligent) killing of one human being by another. One offense is counted for each person willfully killed by another. As a general rule, any death due to injuries received in a fight, argument, quarrel, assault, or the commission of a crime is counted. Attempted murders and assaults to murder are scored as aggravated assaults and not as murder. Suicides, accidental deaths, and justifiable homicides are also excluded.

During the period of January through December, 1987, 10 murders were reported or known to the police, compared to 27 murders in 1986. A comparison on an agency-by-agency basis indicates a 63.0 percent decrease in the number of murders known to the police during 1987 when compared to 1986. Murder has the lowest crime rate of any of the Index offenses and it experienced a decline of 66.7 percent in 1987. The 1987 crime rate for murder was 0.2 offenses per 10,000 population, compared to 0.6 per 10,000 in 1986. Of the 10 murders committed during 1987, 8 offenses have been cleared for a clearance rate of 80.0 percent. This compares to 92.6 percent or 25 clearances during 1986. The value of property stolen incidental to the 10 murders occurring in 1987 totaled zero compared to $1,000 stolen in 1986. Offenses of murder accounted for 0.05 percent of the total Index offenses reported or known to the police in 1987, compared to 0.12 percent in 1986, a decrease of 58.3 percent. In addition, the 10 offenses represent a decline of 66.7 percent compared to 30 reported murders in 1983.

In all cases of murder reported in the Uniform Crime Reporting Program, a supplemental homicide report is submitted by the participating law enforcement agency. This report provides pertinent information consisting of a situation code, the age, sex, and race of victims and offenders, the weapon used, the relationship of the victim to the offender, and any known circumstances or motives which led to the commission of the crime. Presented in the following Tables is a summary of this information on the homicides reported during 1987.

FORCIBLE RAPE

Forcible rape is defined in the Uniform Crime Reporting Program as the carnal knowledge of a female forcibly and against her will. Included in this offense category are attempts or assaults to commit rape. Statutory rape (without force) and other sex offenses are not included in this category. One offense is counted for each female raped or upon whom an attempt to forcibly rape has been committed.

During 1987, 154 forcible rapes were reported or known to the police as compared to 111 in 1986. A comparison on an agency-by-agency basis shows a 38.7 percent increase in volume in 1987 from 1986. Of the 154 forcible rapes reported in 1987, 103 have been cleared for a clearance rate of 66.9 percent, compared to 70 clearances or 63.1 percent in 1986. In 1987, property loss in the rape classification was reported at $435, compared to $60 in 1986. Offenses of forcible rape and attempts to commit forcible rape accounted for 0.78 percent of the total Index offenses reported during 1987, compared to the 1986 figure of 0.50. Forcible rape and rape attempts also showed an increase of 41.3 percent when compared to 1983 levels.

By Uniform Crime Reporting definitions, the victims of forcible rape are always female. With this in mind, a more accurate account of the true victimization rate for this offense requires excluding males from the population base figure. When males are thus excluded, the rate of rape climbs from 3.3 per 10,000 to 6.8 per 10,000. See Table 14.

It is important to note that victimization studies indicate that offenses of rape are not equally distributed throughout the female population; very young and very old females are victimized less frequently than the young to middle-aged females. Given this fact, a separate crime rate was calculated for females of ages 14 through 64 years. The victimization rate for this subpopulation of females rises to 10.4 per 10,000 population, substantially higher than the 6.8 reported for all females.

Though the UCR Program does not collect age data for victims of rape, it is believed that the exclusion of females below 14 and above 64 years of age will have no significant affect on the validity of these figures.

ROBBERY

Robbery is defined as the taking or attempting to take anything of value from the care, custody or control of a person or persons by force or threat of force or violence and/or by putting the victim in fear. In any instance of robbery, one offense is counted for each distinct operation. The number of persons robbed or those present at the robbery is not considered when scoring this crime. Additionally, the number of persons committing the robbery has no bearing on the number of offenses being counted.

During the period of January through December, 1987, 98 robberies came to the attention of law enforcement officials, compared to 114 robberies in 1986. An agency-by-agency comparison indicates a 14.0 percent decrease in the number of robberies reported in 1987 from the previous year. The crime rate for robbery also noted a decline in 1987, dropping 12.5 percent. The 1987 crime rate of 2.1 robberies per 10,000 population was down from the 2.4 per 10,000 figure in 1986. Of the 98 robberies reported in 1987, 44 offenses have been cleared for a clearance rate of 44.9 percent. This compares to 40 clearances, or 35.1 percent, in 1986. The value of property stolen incidental to offenses of robbery in 1987 totaled $69,174 compared to $65,890 stolen in 1986. Robbery offenses accounted for 0.50 percent of the total Crime Index in 1987, down 3.8 percent from 1986 when robberies accounted for 0.52 percent of the Index. Robbery offenses reflected a 35.5 percent decrease when compared to 1983 figures.

AGGRAVATED ASSAULT

Aggravated assault is defined as an unlawful attack by one person upon another for the purpose of inflicting severe or aggravated bodily injury. This type of assault is usually accompanied by the use of a weapon or by means likely to produce death or great bodily harm. Attempts are included since it is not necessary that an injury result when a gun, knife, or other dangerous weapon is used which could, and would, result in serious personal injury were the crime successfully completed. One offense is scored for each person assaulted or upon whom an attempt to assault has been committed.

During the period of January through December, 1987, 1,159 aggravated assaults came to the attention of the police, compared to 1,232 offenses in 1986. An agency-by-agency comparison reflects a 5.9 percent decrease in the number of reported aggravated assaults during 1987 when compared to 1986. A crime rate of 24.7 offenses per 10,000 persons was witnessed in 1987, compared to 25.7 per 10,000 in 1986, a decrease of 3.9 percent. Of the 1,159 aggravated assaults known to law enforcement agencies in 1987, 838 have been cleared for a clearance rate of 72.3 percent. This compares to 787 clearances recorded in 1986 for a clearance rate of 63.9 percent. Offenses of aggravated assault accounted for 5.9 percent of the total Index offenses reported during 1987, compared to 5.6 percent in 1986, an increase of 5.4 percent. When compared to 1983 levels, offenses of aggravated assault for 1987, reflected a 25.4 percent increase.

SIMPLE ASSAULT

The simple assault category includes all assaults which did not involve the use of a firearm, knife/cutting instrument, other dangerous weapon, or personal weapon and which did not involve serious or aggravated bodily injury to the victim. Simple assault is not a Crime Index offense, however, it is collected under the assault category for quality control and for the purpose of reviewing total assault violence.

During the period of January through December, 1987, 1,986 simple assaults were reported or known to the police, compared to 1,920 offenses in 1986. An agency-by-agency comparison reflects a 3.4 percent increase in the number of simple assaults reported in 1987. The crime rate for simple assault also noted an increase in 1987, up from 40.0 per 10,000 persons in 1986 to 42.3 offenses per 10,000 persons in 1987, an increase of 5.8 percent. Of the 1,986 simple assaults known to the police in 1987, 1,486 have been cleared for a clearance rate of 74.8 percent. This compares to a clearance rate of 68.3 percent, or 1,311 clearances of simple assault in 1986. Simple assaults accounted for 63.1 percent of the total number of assault offenses in 1987, compared to 60.9 percent in 1986, an increase of 3.6 percent. Simple assaults also registered a 29.0 percent increase over 1983 figures.

LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS ASSAULTED

All assaults on law enforcement officers (having full arrest powers) in which the officer sustained injury or in which a weapon was used which could have caused serious injury or death are included in this section. Also counted are those sworn officers who were not injured, but force was used against the officer. An offense is counted when an officer is assaulted in the line of duty, even though in an "off duty" status, where he/she is performing official law enforcement duties.

During 1987, 93 assaults on law enforcement officers were reported, compared to 102 assaults in 1986, a decrease of 8.8 percent. Of the 93 assaults reported during 1987, 96.8 percent, or 90 of these assaults, were cleared as compared to 100 percent clearances in 1986. Injuries were sustained in 36.6 percent of the assaults in 1987, compared to 28.4 percent in 1986. In comparison with 1983 figures, the assaults on officers dropped 17.0 percent.

In all cases of assaults on law enforcement officers reported in the UCR program, a supplemental report is submitted by the participating law enforcement agency. This report provides detailed information regarding assaults on law enforcement officers. The supplemental reports categorize the type of activity, type of weapon, type of assignment, assault clearance data, whether the assault resulted in injury by weapon category and the time the assault occurred. The following figures and tables present a summary of the 1987 data on assaults on law enforcement officers compiled from these reports.

BURGLARY

The Uniform Crime Reporting Program defines burglary as the unlawful entry of a structure to commit a felony or a theft. The use of force to gain entry is not required to classify an offense as burglary. Burglaries in the UCR Program are categorized into three subclassifications: forcible entry, unlawful entry where no force is used and attempted forcible entry. One offense is counted for each distinct operation.

During the period of January through December, 1987, 3,511 burglaries were reported or known to law enforcement agencies compared to 4,138 during 1986. An agency-by-agency comparison reflects a 15.2 percent decrease in the number of reported offenses in 1987 when compared to 1986. The 1987 crime rate was also down, from 86.3 burglaries per 10,000 population in 1986 to 74.8 per 10,000 persons in 1987, a decrease of 13.3 percent.

Of the 3,511 burglaries during 1987, 646 clearances were recorded for a clearance rate of 18.4 percent. This compares to 18.5 percent or 766 clearances of burglary in 1986. The value of property stolen incidental to burglaries in 1987 totaled $2,321,004, down from the 1986 total of $2,549,798. Of all known burglaries in 1987, 57.4 percent involved residences compared to 53.6 percent in 1986. Offenses of burglary accounted for 17.8 percent of the total Index offenses reported in 1987, compared to 18.8 percent in 1986, a decrease of 5.3 percent. Offenses of burglary showed a 2.9 percent decrease from 1983 figures.

LARCENY-THEFT

Larceny-theft is defined as the unlawful taking, carrying, leading or riding away of property from the possession or constructive possession of another. It includes crimes such as shoplifting, purse-snatching, thefts from motor vehicles, bicycle theft, etc., in which no use of force, violence or fraud occurs. This crime category does not include embezzlement, "con" games, forgery or worthless checks. Motor vehicle theft is also excluded inasmuch as a separate category is designed to capture motor vehicle theft offenses.

During the period of January through December, 1987, a total of 14,142 larcenies were reported or known to the police compared to 15,576 during 1986. An agency-by-agency comparison shows a 9.2 percent decrease in the number of reported larcenies from the 1986 figure. The larceny crime rate of 301.1 per 10,000 population for 1987 was down 7.3 percent from the 1986 crime rate of 324.9 per 10,000. Of the 14,142 larcenies reported during 1987, 3,658 have been cleared for a clearance rate of 25.9 percent. This compares to 24.6 percent or 3,836 clearances of larceny in 1986. The value of property stolen incidental to larcenies totaled $4,015,164, of which 41.2 percent were under $50 in value, 31.1 percent were $50 to $200 in value, and 27.7 percent were over $200 in value. Larceny offenses accounted for 71.6 percent of the total Index offenses during 1987, up 1.4 percent from 1986 when larceny comprised 70.6 percent of the total Crime Index. In comparison with 1983 figures, larceny-theft offenses reflected a drop of 4.8 percent.

MOTOR VEHICLE THEFT

Motor vehicle theft is defined in the Uniform Crime Reporting Program as the theft or attempted theft of a motor vehicle. This excludes the taking of a vehicle for temporary use by persons having lawful access thereto. Also excluded are thefts of farm and construction equipment, airplanes or motor boats, which are scored as larcenies. One offense is counted for each vehicle stolen or an attempt is made to steal a motor vehicle.

During the period of January through December, 1987, a total of 678 motor vehicle thefts were reported or known to the police as compared to 854 in 1986. An agency-by-agency comparison reflects a 20.6 percent decrease in the number of reported offenses during 1987 when compared to 1986. Of the 678 thefts of motor vehicles in 1987, 325 offenses have been cleared for a clearance rate of 47.9 percent. This compares to 347 clearances or 40.6 percent in 1986. The value of property stolen incidental to motor vehicle thefts during 1987 totaled $2,563,486 compared to $3,573,718 stolen in 1986. Offenses of motor vehicle theft accounted for 3.4 percent of the total reported Index offenses in 1987 compared to 3.9 percent in 1986, a decrease of 12.8 percent. Motor vehicle theft offenses also reflected a 20.6 percent decrease in comparison with 1983 figures.

The motor vehicle theft crime rate of 14.4 offenses per 10,000 population was down 19.1 percent when compared to the 1986 rate of 17.8 thefts. In 1987, an average of 1 of every 885 registered motor vehicles was stolen statewide compared to 1 of every 722 in 1986. The 1987 theft rate per 10,000 registered motor vehicles was 11.3 compared to a rate of 13.8 in 1986, for a decrease of 18.1 percent.

ARSON

Arson is defined by the Uniform Crime Reporting Program as any willful or malicious burning or attempt to burn, with or without intent to defraud, of a dwelling house, public building, motor vehicle or aircraft, or personal property of another.

During the period of January through December, 1987, a total of 116 arsons were reported or known to the police compared to 102 arsons in 1986. An agency-by-agency comparison shows that arson offenses were up 13.7 percent in 1987 compared to 1986. The 1987 arson crime rate also showed an increase, up from 2.1 arsons per 10,000 population in 1986 to 2.5 arsons per 10,000 in 1987. This represents a 19.0 percent increase in the arson crime rate for 1987. Of the 116 arsons known to the police in 1987, 50 have been cleared for a clearance rate of 43.1 percent. This compares to 36 clearances or 35.3 percent for 1986. The estimated value of property damage incidental to arson in 1987 totaled $1,704,718 compared to $1,858,184 in 1986. In comparison with 1983 figures, arson offenses reflected an increase of 5.5 percent.

INDEX OFFENSES BY CONTRIBUTOR

Table 40, on the following pages, illustrates Crime Index offenses, excluding arson, by county and agency for January through December, 1987. 1986 Index totals and percent change figures are provided for agency comparison.

The estimated population coverage figures are presented to provide the base used to calculate the crime rate per 10,000 population. Population figures in this report were calculated from data published by the U.S. Department of Commerce, Bureau of Census, 1980 Census of Population and Housing, and the State of Wyoming, Department of Administration and Fiscal Control, Division of Research and Statistics, Wyoming Population and Employment Forecast Report, 10th Edition, January, 1988.

For agencies desiring to calculate rates using their own population figures, the formula is as follows:

$$\text{Rate} = \frac{x}{y} \times 10{,}000$$

Where: x = the number of offenses

y = the population base

To alter the "rate" figure, simply substitute another number for 10,000 (e.g. 1,000, 500, 250). For example, if a community of 1,250 residents experienced 49 offenses during the year and would like to know the crime rate per 1,000 residents, the formula would be:

$$\text{Rate} = \frac{49}{1250} \times 1{,}000$$

Dividing 49 by 1,250, then multiplying that number by 1,000 we get 39.2 offenses per 1,000 residents.

†University of Wyoming Police Department population coverage and rate per 10,000 is included with the Laramie Police Department figures.
††Dubois Police Department is included with Fremont County Sheriff's Office for 1986.
*The extremely high crime rate noted for Hot Springs State Park Police is primarily the result of the very low resident population base figure. It should be noted that the population of the Park is predominantly made up of residents of the Wyoming Pioneer Home.

STOLEN & RECOVERED PROPERTY

Supplementary reports relating to the value of property stolen and recovered are also provided by the participating law enforcement agencies. This supplementary report requires a value to be established for property stolen and recovered for each Crime Index offense. The determination of the value of property stolen is an obligation of the investigating officer. The following suggested procedures aid in this determination.

A. Use fair market value for items subject to depreciation.

B. Use the wholesale cost of goods stolen from retail establishments, warehouses, etc.

C. The victim's evaluation of non-depreciable items.

D. Use replacement cost or actual cash cost to victim for new or almost new items.

Additional Guidelines:

A. When property is recovered in a different condition from what it was at the time of the theft, that value is used even though it is less than at the time it was stolen.

B. The value of property stolen refers only to property stolen incidental to crimes which occur in that jurisdiction and the value of property recovered includes only property originally stolen from that jurisdiction. However, it does not matter who recovers the property or where it was recovered.

PERSONS ARRESTED

On the following pages, Table 42 provides 1987 State Total arrest information, and Table 43 provides arrest data broken down by county. Table 44 and Figure 21 illustrate arrests for Drug Offenses, from 1983 to 1987.

Differences in arrest practices, policies, and enforcement emphasis among agencies influence the volume of arrests for various offenses, particularly those against public order, e.g., drunkenness, simple assault, vagrancy, disorderly conduct and related violations. However, arrests for serious crimes, e.g., robbery or burglary, are more likely to be consistent and uniform throughout all jurisdictions. Procedures employed in the UCR Program require that an arrest be counted on each separate occasion an individual is taken into custody, notified or cited for committing an offense in that jurisdiction. Also, although several charges may be placed against a person at the time of arrest, only one arrest (usually the most serious) is counted each separate time he/she is taken into custody.

It should be noted that juvenile arrests are in accordance with the age definition of a juvenile for the National Uniform Crime Reporting Program, which is a person under 18 years of age.

LAW ENFORCEMENT PERSONNEL

Because of varying demographic and other jurisdictional characteristics, the requirements for law enforcement service differ greatly from one locale to another. For example, the needs of a community having a highly seasonal population may be extremely different from one whose population is relatively stable. In view of differing service requirements and responsibilities, caution must be used when attempting any comparison of law enforcement employee rates. The rates presented in the following Tables should be viewed as guides or indicators, not as recommended or desirable police strengths. Adequate manpower for a specific locale can only be determined after thorough study and analysis of the various conditions which contribute to the requirements for law enforcement service in that jurisdiction.

OFFENSES IN UNIFORM CRIME REPORTING

Offenses in Uniform Crime Reporting are divided into two groupings designated as Part I and Part II crimes. Information on the number of Part I offenses known to law enforcement, the number cleared by arrest or exceptional means, and the number of persons arrested is reported monthly. Only arrest data are reported for Part II offenses.

The Part I offenses are as follows:

1. CRIMINAL HOMICIDE - a. Murder and Non-Negligent Manslaughter: The willful (non-negligent) killing of one human being by another. Deaths caused by negligence, attempts to kill, assaults to kill, suicides, accidental deaths, and justifiable homicides are excluded. Justifiable homicides are limited to: (1) The killing of a felon by a law enforcement officer in the line of duty; and (2) The killing of a felon, by a private citizen, while in the act of committing a felony. b. Manslaughter by Negligence: The killing of another person through gross negligence. Excludes traffic fatalities. While manslaughter by negligence is a Part I crime, it is not included in the Crime Index.

2. FORCIBLE RAPE - The carnal knowledge of a female forcibly and against her will. Included are rapes by force and attempts or assaults to rape. Statutory rape offenses (no force used/victim under age of consent) are excluded.

3. ROBBERY - The taking or attempting to take anything of value from the care, custody, or control of a person or persons by force or threat of force or violence and/or by putting the victim in fear.

4. AGGRAVATED ASSAULT - An unlawful attack by one person upon another for the purpose of inflicting severe or aggravated bodily injury. This type of assault usually is accompanied by the use of a weapon or by means likely to produce death or great bodily harm. Simple assaults are excluded.

5. BURGLARY-BREAKING OR ENTERING - The unlawful entry of a structure to commit a felony or a theft. Attempted forcible entry is included.

6. LARCENY-THEFT (Except motor vehicle theft) - The unlawful taking, carrying, leading, or riding away of property from the possession or constructive possession of another. Examples are thefts of bicycles or automobile accessories, shoplifting, pocket-picking, or the stealing of any property or article which is not taken by force and violence or by fraud. Attempted larcenies are included. Embezzlement, "con" games, forgery, worthless checks, etc., are excluded.

7. MOTOR VEHICLE THEFT - The theft or attempted theft of a motor vehicle. A motor vehicle is self-propelled and runs on the surface and not on rails. Specifically excluded from this category are motorboats, construction equipment, airplanes, and farming equipment.

8. ARSON - Any willful or malicious burning or attempt to burn, with or without intent to defraud, of a dwelling house, public building, motor vehicle or aircraft, personal property of another, etc.

The Part II Offenses are:

9. OTHER ASSAULTS (Simple) - Assaults or attempted assaults where no weapon was used and which did not result in serious or aggravated injury to the victim.

10. FORGERY AND COUNTERFEITING - Making, altering, uttering or possessing, with intent to defraud, anything false which is made to appear true. Attempts are included.

11. FRAUD - Fraudulent conversion and obtaining money or property by false pretenses. Included are larceny by bailee and bad checks except forgeries and counterfeiting.

12. EMBEZZLEMENT - Misappropriation or misapplication of money or property entrusted to ones care, custody, or control.

13. STOLEN PROPERTY; BUYING, RECEIVING, POSSESSING - Buying, receiving, possessing stolen property, including attempts.

14. VANDALISM - Willful or malicious destruction, injury, disfigurement, or defacement of any public or private property, real or personal, without consent of the owner or person having custody or control.

15. WEAPONS; CARRYING, POSSESSING, ETC. - All violations of regulations or statutes controlling the carrying, using, possessing, furnishing, and manufacturing of deadly weapons or silencers. Attempts are included.

16. PROSTITUTION AND COMMERCIALIZED VICE - Sex offenses of a commercialized nature, such as prostitution, keeping a bawdy house, procuring or transporting women for immoral purposes. Attempts are included.

17. SEX OFFENSES (Except forcible rape, prostitution, or commercialized vice) - Statutory rape and offenses against chastity, common decency, morals, and the like. Attempts are included.

18. DRUG ABUSE VIOLATIONS - State and local offenses relating to narcotic drugs, such as unlawful possession, sale, use, growing and manufacturing of narcotic drugs.

19. GAMBLING - Promoting, permitting or engaging in illegal gambling.

20. OFFENSES AGAINST THE FAMILY AND CHILDREN - Neglect, non-support, desertion, or abuse of family and children.
